

Norcen downsizes heavy oil operation

Eight layoffs in Lindbergh field.

Low prices for heavy crude oil, combined with a forecast that these prices will remain relatively low for the next two years, have resulted in last week's reorganization of Norcen Energy Resources Limited's heavy oil operations.

Area Superintendent Allan Frankiw says that fifteen permanent jobs have been eliminated in the process, eight of these in the Lindbergh area, one in Two Hills and six in Lloydminster and other areas. The majority of the employees affected will be offered work in other Norcen field locations where activity is expanding.

Production will be cut back by about 1600 barrels a day, leaving between 60 and 75 wells, all in the Lindbergh area, in operation.

Norcen expects the reorganization to be completed by March 1, 1992.

HEART Month Campaign now underway.

February is Heart Month, and volunteer canvassers will be out collecting donations toward the Heart Fund. Campaign organizer Adella Jennissen is hoping for good results from this year's efforts to raise funds toward the eradication of Canada's number one killer, heart disease. Please donate generously.

Rescue Van Donations

Donations toward the Elk Point Volunteer Fire Department's new Rescue Van are still coming in. Last Monday saw the presentation of a $3000 cheque from the Ukrainian Catholic Parish of St. Mary's, Angle Lake, made by Adam Smereka to Roland Moneta (above), and $1000 from Fishing Lake Settlement, represented by Settlement Chairman Bruce Desjarlais, who presented the big cheque to Mike Meyenberg (below).

Elk Point's First Arrival Of 1992

Elk Point's New Year's Baby, Joshua Floyd Paul, was welcomed with a fine array of gifts from the Elk Point Order of Royal Purple, represented by PHRL Lois Sharek, and the Elk Point Hospital Auxiliary, represented by Gloria Lecopoy (right). The proud parents are Brenda Paul and Ronald Fryingpan, who are also the parents of last year's New Year's Baby, a daughter who is excited about the arrival of her new baby brother on January 25.

Council meets fire chief

Elk Point's Volunteer Fire Department needs an increase in their 1992 budget allocations, Fire Chief Ken Palamarek told Town Council at their January 27 meeting. Increased attendance at fire practices over the past two months has led Palamarek to believe the trend will continue, in which case the $6000 budgeted for honoraria will be used up long before the end of the year. The Department currently consists of 23 members, with each receiving $6 per hour when they attend practices, and $15 per hour when fighting fires within the town limits. The County of St. Paul pays the firemen for attendance at fires in their jurisdiction.

Palamarek also asked for a $500 increase in the Department's social fund, from $1000 to $1500, as the Department feels this amount is needed to run their annual barbecue and Christmas party. Discussion of this increase threatened to become heated, as Council mentioned that the present figure is already higher than fire departments in other localities receive, and considerably higher than the Town spends on its own social activities.

Mayor Kleeberger put an end to this controversy by suggesting that the Administration work out a revised budget for the Fire Department, which Palamarek said was "exactly what we'd like done," and this will be brought before Council for their consideration.

Preventative services were also discussed with the Fire Chief. The Department makes an annual visit to Elk Point Municipal Hospital to familiarize the members with the layout and to discuss procedures in case of a fire. This has also been done with the schools, apartment complexes, motels and seniors lodges, although not recently. Palamarek suggested that each institution provide the department with a floor plan and an outline of their emergency procedures, and after these are studied, the Department would be willing to visit each location for a familiarization tour.

The Mayor commended the Fire Department on their ongoing dedication to the community's safety, and commented on the "tremendous community response" to the fundraising now underway for the new Rescue Van.

Other business coming before Council included the opening of eleven tenders for provision of a new one ton cab and chassis truck for the Public Works Department. Prices varied by as much as $4000, but details of suspension and motor sizes also will be taken into consideration in committee discussions of the tenders.

The Town agreed to implement the $1 per month increase in residential garbage rates immediately, as per the 1992 budget. Council will meet with Laidlaw in the very near future to discuss renewal of the garbage collection contract. The residential contract runs out January 31, while the commercial contract ends December 31. In the meantime garbage pickup will be carried on as usual.

The Elk Point and District Agricultural Society has contacted the Town in regards to their 1991 operating grant. In 1990, the Ag Society had received $2327 in CRC grant funding on their own behalf and on behalf of the Figure Skating Club, plus $1500 of the Town's own CRC funds, as well as the original $3000 operating grant from the Town, but there is no record of any commitment to fund the organization at an increased rate for 1991.

Possible uses for the former Pioneer Circle hall were discussed, and Council decided to advertise for community input on the fate of the now vacant building and property.

Marshall Kachmar has been returned to the chairmanship of the Community Services Board, with Colleen Simon as Vice Chair. Council was told.

Councillor Adele Mandryk reported that the Northern Light Library System is currently putting together the collection development units of $2000 worth of books for each member library.

In Our View

Thoughts on "E" words

Following the news, as many of us are addicted to doing, we seem to be having a far flung fit over how palatable this concept of a Triple E Senate is to the citizens of our land.

My first thought is to agree with the British Columbia idea, of the three E's as Eliminate, Eradicate, and Expensive (or E-words to that effect). If the elected representatives we already have, the Members of Parliament, were doing their jobs as Effectively as possible, Eliminating the - shall I say apple sauce? - and lowering their Expectations of glory, probably there would be no need for a Senate at all. They could just go ahead and run the affairs of governing the country, as they were elected to do, and that would be that.

But apparently this is too hard on their delicate nerves, so they must be shored up by a gang of Senators, who will be guaranteed to fuss things up and object and rant and rail, enough to keep things in a continuing stew.

So we come to the three E's. Elected. Well, of course. Only the "People" can know who has sense enough to rule well. (Just look at our elected governments, they do everything perfect, don't they?)

Then they must be Effective. Which means that every time the M.P.'s, whom we-the-people have elected, make any decision, about any old thing at all, but especially about anything BIG or IMPORTANT, the Effective Senate could, and likely would, rule it out. After all, they would be merely being their "effective" selves.

Then we arrive at the matter of Equal. To me, this is sort of the road of dictatorship. (The Equal referred to here seems to be "an equal number of senators from each province, never mind how many persons in each province they would be representing"). And this is not "equality" at all.

Democracy, in my dictionary, means "government by the people, usually through elected representatives." This also, I believe, means "one person, one vote".

As has been pointed out repeatedly, and we even learned it in school, each province in this, our home and native land, does NOT have an equal number of persons per province. So where would the "equality" come in? Five million persons, with the same voice as five thousand? Doesn't sound very "Equal" to me.

No, I'm afraid I agree with Joe Clark, and we'll have to wait for that "miracle" again. Perhaps the big brains of the country should be giving their full attention to that other "E", the Economy, and forget the fuss over the Senate for awhile. Perhaps we'll find we don't need an Expense like that, after all.

Enough politics for the nonce. There are surely more enjoyable and uplifting things to speak on, such as this period of lovely weather we have been blessed with.

True, it's colder than summer, but after all, this is January (was January, now February), when we are supposed to have frightfully frigid freezing weather, not mild, mellow and melty. I would love to see what Weather Trivia has listed for these past few weeks, in the new weather trivia Calendar, but I was unable to find one this year. Then, to spoil my collection, I lost the one I had LAST year, when I took it to the Community Services Building, to use for the Quiz period, at our Fitness for Seniors class, just before Christmas. I guess I laid it down while I put on my boots, and left it there. I hope it didn't get in the waste bin, much too valuable for that.

Maybe I'll find some somewhere, both from last year, and from this, to add to my collection. They are marvelous for weather information from years gone by.

Ranking next in importance, for good information, is the good Old Farmers Almanac. Every year, for 200 years, the producers of the Old Farmers' Almanac have brought out their interesting little magazine, filled to the brim with weather facts, some fancies and a host of other information on all manner of things. Including humor.

How about this one: In 1855 the "Know-nothing Party" was formed. Sworn to secrecy, members, when joining, vowed to answer all questions by saying "I know nothing". How does that grab you? Seems more honest than some we have today.

In 1886, George Anderson patents the first typewriter ribbon - and they've been trying to make a more complicated, expensive model ever since ... with considerable success.

Usefully, the Almanac predicts the coming year's weather trends, how successfully there I do not know. But they are very accurate on eclipses, tides, moon phases, and the whereabouts of the various heavenly bodies, at any given time.

For example, the full Snow Moon will appear on February 18; the planet Jupiter is passing from east to west, during our still-long cold nights, and may be seen in all its brilliant glory about due south, on any clear February night, at about 3 a.m., should you be star gazing then. And on February 16, I'm invited to my Uncle's 90th Birthday, in Edmonton. And he'll probably dance on his birthday, too.

Welcoming the Winter Games

Get set for an exciting weekend, everyone! Elk Point is joining St. Paul, Mallaig and Ashmont in hosting athletes from throughout northeast Alberta at the North Eastern Alberta Winter Games, and the activities cover a wide spectrum of events in addition to the sporting competitions.

Here in Elk Point, we are privileged to host the Men's and Women's Basketball, in the High School and Elementary School gymnasiums, in addition to several games in both the Bantam Hockey and Over 35 Hockey in the A. G. Ross Arena. (There are also two Elks games, Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon, for you to enjoy.) This is sure to be topnotch action, so be sure to come out and enjoy the games.

Elk Point was also originally supposed to host the Biathlon, but registration was insufficient to warrant holding a competition. This is regretful, as not only would the area have been able to observe this strenuous sport, but another local organization would have been able to become involved by providing the use of their facilities.

Some of you may have heard Liberal leader Jean Chretien's suggestion last week that we all "spend money and have fun" in an effort to stimulate the economy. One of your best buys this week would be a Winter Games Passport. Only $5 gets you into all the sports venues, and in addition gives you worthwhile discounts at numerous restaurants, etc. in the communities hosting the Games. We have joined several other Elk Point locations in selling the passports, so come on down and do your bit for the economy by attending the Winter Games.

Have a great time, athletes and spectators!

Our Past

Steve Andrishak

On June 7, 1950 a mammoth bridge opening celebration was held at the Elk Point bridge site. An estimated crowd of over 12,000 people was in attendance. This mass gathering far exceeded all other celebrations ever held in the Elk Point district.

Prior to this bridge opening in 1950, the people of Elk Point and surrounding districts used a ferry to cross the North Saskatchewan River. The first ferry was installed at this site in 1914 and it remained in service for the following 36 years. Although this ferry served its purpose, there were periods of disruptions during the early winter and early spring, a time when no vehicles could cross the river because of unsafe river ice conditions. Although an overhead cage was put into operation, hauling passengers across the river during the winter freeze up and spring break up, many of our south of the river residents found this method inconvenient and so they shifted their business to Derwent, Clandonald and Vermilion. This resulted in a major business loss to the many merchants of Elk Point.

In early 1949 the Elk Point Chamber of Commerce began pressing for a bridge and somehow they convinced the Alberta Government that one was badly needed at this site, mainly because of a sizeable increase in traffic.

Construction of the Elk Point bridge was started during the fall of 1949. Soon after the winter freeze up, work was started on the cement piers, they had to be completed before the spring break up. Due to an extremely cold winter (one of the coldest during recent times) many hardships and problems were encountered by the work crews, however by working hard and putting in long hours the workers were able to complete these cement piers on schedule. Next came the steel construction as well as the construction of the spans. The bridge was finally completed in May of 1950, and was soon put into operation.

After waiting for 36 years to get a bridge, it was decided a mammoth celebration was in order and soon after, the town of Elk Point as well as the Elk Point Chamber of Commerce spent many long hours planning one. Headed by Elk Point's mayor, Harry Ramsbottom and Chamber of Commerce secretary, Joseph V. Jacobson and his committee, the date of the bridge opening was set for Wednesday, June 7, 1950.

The day of the bridge opening finally arrived, a beautiful, cloudless day, ideal for a mass celebration. The crowd started arriving early and in no time thousands of people from near and far gathered for the much looked forward to event, a celebration which will long be remembered by those in attendance. The area to the south of the bridge was used for parking vehicles and the area to the north was reserved for those taking part in the mass bridge opening celebration.

After numerous speeches by the main dignitaries, which included the mayors from many surrounding towns and villages, representatives of the different Chambers of Commerce as well as government officials, the ribbon was finally cut by the Minister of Public Works, Hon. Mr. McMillan and the bridge was officially declared open to the public.

Elk Point's biggest celebration

The Minister of Public Works stated in his speech that the cost of the bridge was $350,000, it had 4 piers, 5 spans, its total length was 950 feet, it was 22 feet wide and had a clearance of 15 feet.

A mile long parade preceded the official opening. Musical bands from Vermilion, St. Paul as well as the Clandonald Scottish Pipe band performed throughout the day. Other forms of entertainment included: an aerobic display by the Royal Canadian Air Force from Cold Lake, a grandstand show, four professional boxing matches, kiddies' free rides, the Saddle Lake Indian performers, a free barbecue, a giant fireworks display at night as well as dances in both the King George and Elk Point Halls. During the day, the bridge opening ceremonies were broadcast by Edmonton's CFRN Radio station.

People came from far and near to help us celebrate this mass celebration. It was an event of great importance to our community. It meant that no longer would there be delays in crossing the river. It also meant that our local merchants would no longer have a drop off in business during the early winter and spring because of river disruptions such as they experienced during the previous 36 years.

This bridge remained in operation until 1986 and was then replaced with a no span bridge, one that would allow loads of any heights to use this new structure. The official bridge opening of this second bridge took place on June 8, 1986. As it was considered a replacement bridge the bridge opening didn't compare in scope to our original first bridge opening on June 7, 1950, which attracted a mammoth gathering of well over 12,000 people.

Celebration '92

Come feel the glory!

Games offering a fun-filled weekend

After months of preparation Celebration '92 is upon us and what a celebration it promises to be! With over 1,300 athletes headed this way in addition to all the fans, St. Paul will be literally bursting at the seams. But that's okay. If there's one thing St. Paul's good at, it's rolling out the red carpet and having a good time. The more the merrier!

It was back in 1985 that St. Paul last played host to the Northeastern Alberta Winter Games and many St. Paul residents well remember what a tremendous event it proved to be. This time around there's every reason to believe it will be even better.

These games are the stepping stone for many athletes to the Alberta Winter Games which will be hosted in Fort McMurray Feb. 27 to March 1. As a result, spectators should be in for some great competition as individuals and teams battle to earn a place in the provincial competition.

Opening ceremonies for Celebration '92 take place Friday evening at 8 p.m. in the Polaris Arena. Local dignitaries will be on hand to give the athletes a rousing send off. Harold Northcott, former recreation director for the Town of St. Paul, was instrumental in bringing the Games to St. Paul and in recognition of this he has been awarded the honor of lighting the flame at the opening ceremonies.

Snoshu, the Game's mascot, will be hosting a gigantic pancake breakfast Saturday morning beginning at 7 a.m. at the Recreation Centre so don't worry about breakfast plans that day.

Something to keep in mind is that Celebration '92 is not just a sporting event, it is also a celebration of the arts. A great deal of planning and time has gone into the staging of Arts Alive Festival which features everything from painting and dance to snow sculpture and food. Food? That's right. An international food fair set for Saturday (4 p.m. to 7 p.m.) in the Ukrainian Cultural Centre is sure to tantalize the taste buds of even the most discriminating connoisseur. For more on all that Arts Alive has to offer please see the special feature in this supplement.

Many, many people have come together in a great spirit of cooperation to ensure the success of these games. Now it is up to the rest of us to come out and be a part of Celebration '92. See you there!

Arts Alive Festival of Celebration '92

Jean-Marie MacKinnon

A cultural extravaganza is planned for the Northeastern Alberta Winter Games scheduled for February 7-9, 1992. High energy and quick speaking (in both French and English) Lisa Holeton chairs this sub committee for the Games. With a multitude of events scheduled for the weekend Holeton believes there is something for everyone.

"Culture is a bringing together of the communities; regardless of colour, race or language" said Holeton. The public will have the opportunity of viewing and speaking with the artists at work and Holeton believes, "This will provide a great opportunity for interaction and a greater level of understanding of each others culture."

The Cultural Committee is putting together a mixture of arts, crafts, dance, song and food presented in various venues around St. Paul and surrounding communities. Praising the efforts of her volunteers, Holeton exudes enthusiasm, "They (the volunteers) are all artistic people, in different ways; they're wonderful and we all firmly believe in unity through the spirit of the arts" she professes. Expanding on this point Holeton stresses the importance of what the group is doing."

With a strong artistic background, her commitment to the arts is not lost in the objective she has laid out for her group.

"We are committed to ensure the cultural components of the Games play a major role in promoting the arts in all its facets. These activities will provide the cultural and artistic organizations in our community the opportunity for interaction and networking."

Invited by Games Chairman Richard Gervais to head the Cultural Committee for the Games, Holeton did not hesitate to accept the position. "I thought this would be my contribution to the Games and thought of it as a bringing together of the arts and the communities," she explains.

Art work will be on display at various locations in St. Paul during the Celebration '92 festivities. St. Paul Co-op Mall will feature a photography exhibition which will display work by local and surrounding area artists. It will run from February 1-14. A Northeastern Wildlife Habitat exhibit which will include taxidermy, will be on display at the St. Paul Cultural Centre from January 29-February 13. The Centre will be opened daily for public viewing. This event is

Which Sport?

Snowshu can't decide which sport she's going to take in at this year's Northeastern Alberta Winter Games Feb. 7-9 in St. Paul. With over 30 sports to choose from, ranging from darts to volleyball, who could blame her. Snowshu is inviting all athletes and spectators to her pancake breakfast Saturday morning at the St. Paul Recreation Centre.

Let the games begin!

Short and sweet is the motto for the Northeastern Alberta Winter Games Opening Ceremonies, Feb. 7 at Polaris Arena at 8:00 p.m.

"The program will be a little more than a half-and-hour long," Games Protocol chairman Denise Lashuk said. "We know some people don't like to sit around for too long."

The Northeastern Alberta Winter Games Committee has made sure those in attendance will get as much entertainment as possible in 30 minutes.

The ceremonies will be kicked off by the grand march of the athletes and close to 800 competitors are expected to participate in the opening, led by the games' mascot Snoshu.

Music buffs will be able to put the face to the words of the games' theme song, as composer Vicki Belzil will be performing Celebration '92 live with the Regional High School Band.

CFRN-TV weatherman John Berry will be the guest speaker.

Brief speeches will be made by St. Paul Mayor Paul Langevin,

Celebration '92

Words & Music by Vicki Belzil

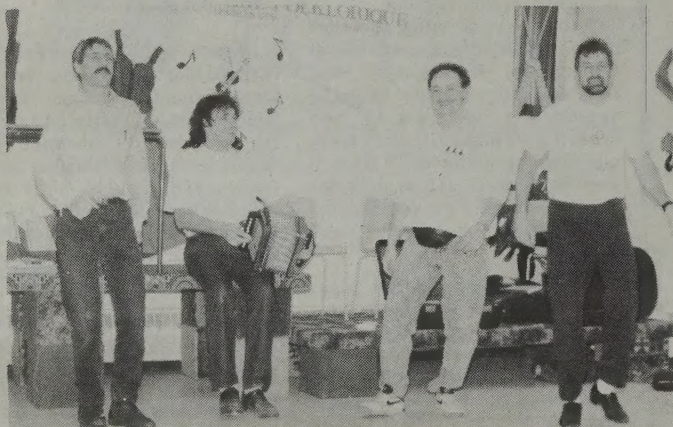

There's a north-east wind a-blowing
And it's calling one and all
It's the challenge of the Lakeland,
It's the challenge of St. Paul.
It's a joyful celebration
Of what it means to you and me
To be living in Alberta
Young at heart and strong and free.

Come feel the glory, Celebration '92
Help tell the story, there's a place for me and you.
It's our ambition to be the best at what we do,
Come share the vision, Celebration '92.

Like the snowy owl above us
See us spread our wings and soar
When we've given 'til we've fallen,
See us rise and give some more.
And when all the scores are counted
We'll be standing tall with pride,
For we know there are no losers
We're all winners 'cause we tried.

Although our colour's different
Or our language or our race
We see our goals reflected
When we're standing face to face.

So we gather here together
To rejoice in who we are
We're a proud and worthy people
Ever reaching for a star.
We'll compete with tears and laughter,
And at the end we'll understand
It's our dreams that will unite us,
Heart to heart and hand in hand.

Neighborhoodly touch to games

Sometimes when you throw a big party, you need the help of a few neighbors to make sure things run smoothly.

The Northeastern Alberta Winter Games is no different, as the citizens of Elk Point, Mallaig and Ashmont are helping their friends in St. Paul by donating their facilities -- and time -- in making sure the games go off without a hitch.

Eight of the 39 events at the games will be held in venues outside of St. Paul.

The response from the surrounding community has been "tremendous," according to Games Chairman Richard Gervais. "We couldn't do it without them."

The positive response shouldn't have come as a surprise, according to Denis Chartrand, supervisor of volunteers in Mallaig.

"Whenever we ask for volunteers," Chartrand said. "We always have plenty."

Fifty-seven volunteers from will be donating their time to make sure the hockey games and table tennis tournament held in Mallaig don't go in disarray.

Mallaig has donated its arena -- from the timekeepers to the Zamboni driver -- to the Games' committee at no cost for the weekend.

"I'm looking forward to the weekend," Chartrand said, with a laugh. "But I'm anxious to have it over with too."

You would think that with five schools in town, St. Paul would have more than enough space for its events.

But when gym space became a needed commodity, the Games' committee was forced to look 37 km north to ask for help from the people at Ashmont School.

And it was no problem at all, according to Ashmont School principal Larry Lambert.

"When the Winter Games committee decided to have some venues here (Ashmont School), we told them whatever they wanted, they had it."

Ashmont will be hosting the armwrestling tournament and the badminton tournament.

Elk Point will be hosting the basketball tournaments as well as several hockey games during the Games.

Fort Chip to make the trip

They aren't called the Northeastern Alberta Winter Games for nothing.

The far northeast corner of Alberta will be represented at the Northeastern Alberta Winter Games, Feb. 7-9 as Fort Chipewyan will be attending the games in St. Paul.

It's the first time Fort Chipewyan has sent a team to winter games since 1988, according to Fort Chipewyan recreation director Steve Courtoreille.

"Last year in Wainwright we couldn't make it because of the distance," Courtoreille said. "We're going to make it this year because it's a little bit shorter."

Shorter is a relative term.

With Fort Chipewyan being some four-and-a-half-hours north of Fort McMurray, the team is still facing an eight to nine-hour drive to attend the games.

Fort Chipewyan will be sending 47 athletes to St. Paul, participating in seniors' hockey, bantam hockey, floor hockey, ladies basketball, and badminton.

"At first nobody seemed to care about the games," Courtoreille said. "But once the hockey teams signed up, everybody wanted to enter. We're pleased with what we got."

All 47 members of the Fort Chipewyan team will be travelling by bus and will be leaving at 8:00 a.m. Friday to make sure the hockey team can make it to its first game Friday night.

Courtoreille said he had no idea what time the teams would get back from St. Paul, but he wouldn't mind if it was in the wee hours of Monday morning.

"It all depends on how we do and if we have any teams in the finals," Courtoreille said. "So the later the better as far as we're concerned."

Talent

St. Paul's own Vicki Belzil will be performing the Winter Games' theme song "Celebration '92" at the opening ceremonies 8:00 p.m. Friday at Polaris Arena. The talented singer also wrote the song.

supported by Alberta Fish and Wildlife.

A school banner competition is now in progress with schools from St. Paul and District. They were asked to do a team banner depicting the Winter Games. The winning school will be awarded a plaque and $200, which will be put towards an art activity in the school. These banners can be viewed during the Games' weekend in the Polaris arena.

An Art Works Exhibition and demonstration will be held at the old Marshall Wells building located on 4821-50 Avenue. The feature artist is Julie Chadelaine, who is originally from St. Paul and now resides in Calgary. She is a painter, sculptor, and graphic artist. Alongside Ms. Chadelaine will be 15-20 local artists and artisans demonstrating their work. In the same building a teen art exhibit will be on display and coordinator Pat Fontaine explains who this involves.

"We've focused on those kids that do work in solitude. It gives them an opportunity to show their work," Fontaine adds that a lot of kids from Poundmaker do artwork and is hoping to have their work on display. This exhibition is opened on February 6 and 7 from 1:00-3:15 p.m. for school visits and on February 8 for public viewing from 10 a.m.-4:00 p.m.

An arts and craft show and sale is slated for February 8 from 10:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m. at the Visual Arts Centre. Any craftsperson is invited to sell their goods provided there is space available. It is on a first come basis. For further information contact Toni Hopkins at 645-3071.

Dance celebrations will be presented the week prior to the Games in Mallaig, Elk Point, St. Paul, Ashmont and Saddle Lake schools. Madame Pugh of Alcardav Dance Academy has integrated 5 groups and choreographed a dance celebration featuring the Alcardav Dance Academy, Les Tourbillons, Saddle Lake Dancers, Les Bles D'or and the St. Paul Ukrainian Dancers.

"It's purpose, is to give a spirit to the games and put some excitement into the kids for the Games. It is promotion for the Games and Celebration '92 through the medium of dance," Holeton explains.

A highlight of the culture events for the students will be the snow sculpture workshops. Roger Marchand, a Quebecois artist from the Lac St. Jean area, will be giving workshops to students on ice and snow sculptures. He is in the process of obtaining his Master of Fine Arts degree and is working on a thesis entitled "Un Art Sous Zero" (An Art Below Zero). As you need below freezing temperatures for the work to take shape his title is appropriately named for his art. Workshops on how to make sculptures out of ice and snow will be offered to schools in St. Paul, Elk Point, Mallaig, Ashmont, Saddle Lake and to the residents of Poundmaker. The students will have the opportunity to create their own art out of the white stuff on February 2, 3 and 4.

The outside area of the Ukrainian Cultural Centre will be a beehive of activity on the morning of February 8. Roger Marchand will be creating a work of art out of ice and giving a workshop to 20 local artists on snow sculptures. This takes place from 8:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m. and the public is welcomed to view the art in progress.

If you are yearning for a taste of the exotic after viewing the snow and ice sculptures the Cultural Committee is offering food for everyone's palate at the International Food Fair. The Ukrainian Cultural Centre will be the scene of a "smaller version of a Taste of Edmonton" said Louise DeChamplain, the person responsible for the International Food Fair. DeChamplain contacted each of the 29 nationalities represented in St. Paul and as of January 17 the group had 24 confirmed participants. Booths will be set up selling various types of food and you the consumer can purchase 50 cent coupons which enable you to buy food from the booths. This takes place on Saturday, February 8 from 4:00-7:00 p.m. in the Ukrainian Cultural Centre. The Regional High School cooking class students will be selling pizzas to raise money to buy cookbooks for their class. The St. Paul Boys and Girls Club will be selling bannock pizzas for a fund raiser as well.

The fun continues in the evening with the arrival of the Michael Mitchell Band at the Ukrainian Cultural Centre. This event promises to be an evening of fun for all. Mitchell's band performs Canadian music from every part of the country. It is a pub night show and begins at 8:30 p.m.

Whether it is sports, dance, music, art or food, with the help of the Cultural Committee, Celebration '92 is bound to have something for all to enjoy.

Ensuring safety at the Games

The man in charge of Safety and Communication for the Northeastern Alberta Winter Games is well known in the community for his volunteer work. President of the St. Paul Lions' Club and a member of the Elk Point Masonic Lodge, Peter Curtis-Brown was pleased to respond to an invitation by the Games Committee to head up the Safety and Communication committee.

"It's up my alley; I can handle it and have excellent and a wide history of volunteerism," said Curtis-Brown.

Well versed and experienced in the area of safety and communication, Curtis-Brown is an Emergency Medical Technician (EMT) with the St. Paul and District Ambulance Service and holds a First Aid and CPR instructor certificate. He takes safety very seriously. His job during the NEAWG is two-fold. "My job is to ensure the safety (of the participants) by setting up first aid in the venues and secondly, to ensure an efficient form of communication is set-up between venues," explains Curtis-Brown.

Curtis-Brown has made contact with amateur radio clubs in the area and is using these radios to communicate the results of each event to the games headquarters referred to as Game Central. Each venue will have a ham operator in attendance who will transfer the game results to Game Central where everything is recorded and prepared for presentation.

"I have a system set-up that is second to none because of the operators cooperation and their equipment allows the information to be transferred instantly."

The other communication system set-up by Curtis-Brown uses the hand held operators. First aiders will be present at each venue and will have direct communication links to the operator of the venue in the event of an emergency. The first aiders are volunteers from St. Paul and surrounding Fire departments. "The response to this has been excellent. The Fire Departments are quite excited about it," said Curtis-Brown.

Although Curtis-Brown and his group of volunteers are prepared for the Games, he remains a realist in his view of safety. "Everything is under control", he said, "but one cannot predict the future. If we had 1% of foresight that we have of hindsight, we would have it made. "The optimum situation is to see everything that could and does happen and be prepared for it."

When the Winter Games ceremonies conclude on February 9, 1992, Curtis-Brown's wish is that everyone return to their homes in the same condition as when they arrived. "Of course, I can't guarantee it, but we are prepared for any emergency."

The NEAWG begin on February 7, 1992. For further information on registration or other related events contact Michael at 645-5313.

Let the winter games begin!

St. Paul County Reeve Robert Bouchard and St. Paul MLA John Drobot.

To close the opening ceremonies, former St. Paul recreation director Harold Northcott will ignite the Northeastern Alberta Winter Games torch, to officially open the games.

Athletes for games to be well fed

If it's related to food and pertaining to the Winter Games, no doubt Curt Luyckfassel is involved in it. Chairing the Foodservices Committee for the Northeastern Alberta Winter Games, Luyckfassel laughingly remarks, "I'm not sure why they offered me this committee; perhaps because I like to eat."

Possessing a list of volunteer work and community involvement as long as one's arm Luyckfassel shrugs at the question of why he is involved. "I've got lots of free time and it (volunteering) gets me out" said Luyckfassel, who admits he seldom turns down volunteer work. His volunteer work ranges from past president of the St. Paul Golf Course to serving on the Boards of the St. Paul Junior B Canadiens and the St. Paul Rockets and is currently involved in the CAP Committee and the St. Paul Rec. Board.

As chair of the Food Services Committee his primary concern is to provide food services at every venue for the spectators and the participants. This will range from burgers and fries at a Regional venue to potato chips and pop at another.

Another project that falls under Luyckfassel's committee is providing food for the hundreds of volunteers involved in the Winter Games. Responsible for food services at the Pregame Volunteer Orientation Night and the Volunteer Wind Up Appreciation following the Games, the Food Services Committee will also make available a lunch at the St. Paul Golf Course during the weekend of the games. The Golf Course agreed to provide the lunch and charge a minimal price to the volunteers and "any profits," adds Luyckfassel, "go back to the Winter Games."

Luyckfassel was also involved with the Winter Games Entrance Passport Book. He assisted Denise Lashuk, chairperson of Protocol, in soliciting restaurants in each participating town for discount coupons and special rates during the Games and the celebrations.

You don't necessarily need an aviation license to fly. All you need is a lightweight toboggan and a bit of gravity as a young Eric Hebert demonstrates. Eric was tobogganing near Regional High School on Sunday.

Soccer team yearns for their past glory

St. Paul's indoor soccer team hopes to be as successful at this year's winter games as it was the last time St. Paul was the host team.

Five teams competed in the 1987 games and St. Paul finished second.

That was the last time St. Paul competed in indoor soccer and, according to Vital Ouellette, president of the local soccer association, it will be tough for St. Paul to do the same again.

There are two teams from Bonnyville and one from Grand Centre this time around. St. Paul lost to both Bonnyville and Grand Centre last year when Grand Centre hosted the summer games.

Grand Centre took the silver while gold went to an aggressive Bonnyville squad.

That was outdoor soccer but the players are likely to be the same.

"They're all very good," said Ouellette who's been charged with organizing the indoor event in St. Paul.

Rules for indoor soccer often vary, but according to Ouellette, this tournament will follow outdoor rules as much as possible. The unavoidable exceptions are that teams will play five aside and there will be no throw-ins.

It's a faster game than outdoor soccer and the score is usually higher.

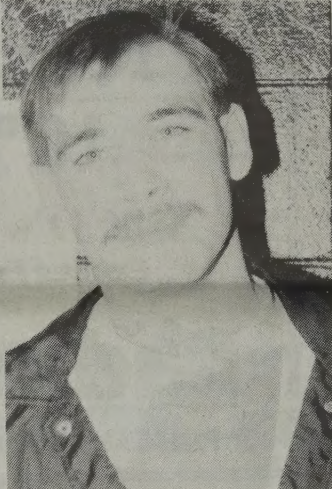

Soccer fans are encouraged to come out and see the action Sunday at Poundmakers Adolescent Alcohol and Drug Abuse Treatment Centre.

St. Paul plays at 8:00 a.m., 10:00 a.m. and 1:00 p.m. The bronze medal game is at 3:00 p.m. while the gold and silver medal contest is at 3:00 p.m.

"What are you doing for the games?"

Chelsey Drapaka -- 8, I'm going to watch ringette.

Lorrell Hurtubise -- 16-year-old Regional High School student -- I'm going to watch the games and capture the spirit and help support the St. Paul athletes.

Giving Artists

Lena O'Neill -- concession worker at Polaris Arena -- I'll be working at the concession, it will be interesting because you get to meet a lot of people.

Shane Straty -- 16, Badminton player from Myrnam -- I'm looking forward to it and I'm hoping to have a good time and meet new people -- and I wouldn't mind winning.

Luge coming to the games

An opportunity to try out a new sport will be available to spectators and athletes at the Northeastern Alberta Winter Games, Feb. 7-9.

And participants will have absolutely nothing to luge.

A mini-luge run is being built next to the landing pad and anyone from "two years old to ninety years old," will be able to try out the winter sport, Ardell Clark-Tronnes, president of the Smoky Lake Curling Club said.

While the mound of dirt being stacked up next to the pad may not look too intimidating, "You'll be surprised how much speed you can pick up," Clark-Tronnes said.

Because the luge is set on metal runners, "It's like standing at the top of the hill with your skates on and heading straight down the hill, you get going pretty fast."

One or two curves will be added to the hill in order that people can gain the feeling of controlling a luge.

The luges being used in St. Paul will have ropes on them for steering, rather than using your feet as is done in the Winter Olympics.

Small luges will be brought so that smaller children can try out the sport.

"I have a three-year-old that's crazy about it," Clark-Tronnes said. "Little kids really take to it."

Though luge is an Alberta Class Event sport in the Winter Games, it wouldn't have been feasible to stage a competition in the St. Paul area.

"There's a lot to building a luge run," Clark-Tronnes said. "It would be a considerable cost factor in St. Paul and it would have to be built outside the city so transporting the athletes might have been a problem."

As a result all qualifying runs for Alberta Winter Games have been done in Fort McMurray.

Having a small luge run right at the main square of the Northeastern Alberta Winter Games will give the maximum number of people the opportunity to participate, according to Clark-Tronnes.

Clark-Tronnes added there was another added benefit to using a small hill.

"You don't have to walk three miles packing a sled to get back up the hill."

Old friend to light torch

Harold Northcott

So much for the old saying you can't come home again.

Harold Northcott will be returning to St. Paul to light the Northeastern Alberta Winter Games' torch to officially open the games Feb. 7 at Polaris Arena.

Being invited to light the torch came as a complete surprise, according to the former St. Paul recreation director.

"It came as quite a shock," Northcott said, who had lived in St. Paul for three-and-a-half years. "I had heard (Winter Games chairman) Richard Gervais joke about it and when it came true I really appreciated it."

As St. Paul recreation director, Northcott spearheaded the efforts to bring the games to St. Paul some 14 months ago.

But a job opportunity forced Northcott to move to Rocky Mountain House just five months before the games started.

Lighting the torch enables him to "tie up a few loose ends."

"It will be nice to see the final project after starting in the fall of 1990. I now get to see the entire process"

Northcott said he felt that he had let the NEAWG Committee down when he accepted the job as recreation director in Rocky Mountain House in August.

But that couldn't be further from the truth, according to Games Protocol chairman Denise Lashuk.

"Harold was very interested in bringing the games to St. Paul — he did the research," Lashuk said. "He is such an avid sports person and giving of his time."

The NEAWG Committee voted unanimously to have Northcott light the torch.

Northcott is going to make the ceremony a family affair as he will be bringing his wife Barbara, and sons Dustin, 3, and 20-month-old Chad. Both of the Northcotts' children were born in St. Paul.

Flippin' flapjacks

Spectators and athletes can get off to healthy start for the Northeastern Alberta Winter Games by having a hearty breakfast at Snoshu's Pancake Breakfast Saturday morning at the St. Paul Recreation Centre.

Forty-two feet of sausages, 600-lb. of pancake batter and enough coffee for 400 cups have been purchased to feed the expected 800 people who will be taking in the breakfast Saturday morning.

The breakfast will run from 7 a.m. to 10 a.m. and admission is $2 while pre-schoolers get to eat for free.

The 15 volunteer cooks will be at the Rec Centre by 5:30 a.m. in order to make sure the food is ready for the hungry patrons.

Some of the volunteers can't wait to flip a few flapjacks to support the games.

"I'm looking forward to it," Mary Zacharko said, laughingly. "I've been cooking pancakes for 60 years."

What's news at the library?

The public is invited to the annual meeting of the Elk Point Public Library on February 11, 1992 at 7:00 p.m. in the library program room. Join us to hear of the progress the library has made in the past year.

Visit the library and see the wonderful display cases, hand-crafted by John Tilton, that are now ready for use. We would like to thank the Elk Point Branch

No. 151 Royal Canadian Legion for donating the funds for one of the cases and the Alberta Foundation for the Arts for the other. We are now appealing for display items that the public would find interesting. Come in and talk to us about offering your collection for display in our locked cabinets.

Don't forget the library's Adopt a Magazine project. If you would like to adopt a magazine we already have or pay for a new subscription you would like to see in the library, come in and we will give a receipt for income tax purposes.

Encourage your child to enter our I Love The Library book-mark contest. Contest deadline is February 11, 1992. Winner announced on Valentine's Day, February 14, 1992.

New Books:

The library has a new book on Hockey Cards for those who collect cards, "The Charlton Hockey Card Price Guide". Complete listings for regular cards from 1951 to date and much more information.

The book "Dog Training Step by Step" by Micheal Tucker has been written to help not only the average dog owner, but also those who instruct or would like to instruct in obedience dog clubs, or a professional dog-training establishment.

"Circles of Power" by Angus Baxter is a guide for Canadians seeking their ancestors. Acclaimed by genealogists, welcomed with excitement by those just beginning to search for their family histories, the revised edition has been updated to include changes in information sources in Eastern Europe and Germany.

"How to Beat the Taxman All Year Around" - now you can keep your money out of the government's pocket and in your own with Brian Costell's tax-saving tips.

House warming huge success

Irene Magnusson

Tuesday, January 21, 1992 will be remembered for some time by the seniors of Elk Point and area. This was the first social event, other than sports and bingo, in the brand new Seniors' Recreation Centre, over on Highway 41 and 51 Avenue. The culmination of over a year of strenuous fundraising, planning, working and hoping, the large building should be the pride and joy of several generations of senior citizens, now and to come.

This house-warming gathering was in the form of one of the more successful social gatherings enjoyed by the seniors - a potluck supper. For anyone not familiar with a super potluck supper, as put out by the Elk Point Pioneer Circle seniors, it means: everyone brings food, about twice as much as they can possibly eat, and this, in the form of countless casseroles, meat dishes, salads, pickles, fruit, pies, cookies and squares, etc., etc., constitutes the luck of the pot, i.e., a potluck supper. And the luck is, if you get to go there.

This evening, all seniors in the area were alerted, by phone and notice in the Review, and word of mouth should seriously have covered anyone else, and a very good-sized crowd showed up, between 5 and 6 p.m., dressed in their party finery and suitably hungry.

To some of us, this was our first glimpse of the interior of the huge blue / grey building, since the plan was hatched to purchase it a year ago. A lot of changes have taken place. After making your way through the double entry doors, there is a large orientation place, hangers for coats, a stand for a soon-to-be-installed Guest Book and straight ahead, the counter from which meals will be served.

Exploring soon showed me the large games and party room, to the left, first door. Next to it is a smaller room, this one empty save for the long line of a table already groaning under the endless dishes of good food, brought by the guests. Behind the counter is the gleaming stainless steel - finished kitchen, stoves, sinks, dishwasher, cupboards and counters, refrigerator and trolleys, all designed to make the serving of large crowds easy and pleasant, and efficient.

To the right, the hall reveals other rooms, the pool room, the crafts room, washrooms, storage and furnace rooms, all gleaming new and well fitted. More hangers lined the hall, room for everyone's cloaks.

The guests were gathering in the large room, where rows of tables and the comfortable new padded chairs were promising a pleasant supper together with friends.

Soon it was time for the opening announcement by President Lillian Palinka, followed by a lovely poem of Grace, read by Florence McGinnis, asking a blessing on the repast.

Then it was "load up" time, and a couple of hundred guests filed in orderly row, past the groaning board, with such variety to choose from as to make one quake, and so back to one's chosen spot, and the pleasant challenge of attempting to prove that our eyes didn't hold more than our stomachs could. A following trip to the desserts table - and most of us did - finished off a really great meal.

When we were all so full we couldn't hold another bite, members gathered the remains, tidied the tables and cleared a space in centre floor, for the entertainment to follow. Many members started card games, others visited, and when the musicians struck up, quite a number took to the floor. Jim McFadyen and Fred Roder, of Vermilion, with violin and guitar, voices and talent, kept feet tapping and dancing for a great ending to the "house warming," a most pleasant evening.

FACING AIDS

HIV AND AIDS IN ALBERTA

More than 1600 Albertans are known to have HIV infection, the AIDS virus. These numbers are only the tip of the iceberg. There are likely several thousand others who are infected but don't know it. Many people who have HIV infection feel fine. They may deny they have taken part in risky behaviours - unprotected sex or sharing needles to inject drugs - the two most common ways the infection is spread.

Of those now infected, most will develop AIDS within ten years. AIDS is the last stage of infection with HIV. More than 250 men, women and children have died of AIDS in our province so far, and an equal number are extremely ill. People with AIDS live in Edmonton, Calgary, smaller cities, towns and rural areas.

It is estimated that in some countries over half the population is infected with HIV. The World Health Organization (WHO) reports that 60 per cent of all HIV infections worldwide occur through sex between men and women. These numbers don't apply to Alberta yet, but those becoming infected through heterosexual behaviour is rising.

AIDS is clearly not limited to certain high risk groups. AIDS is not restricted by social status, race, sexual orientation or good intentions. High risk behaviours, not group association, spreads HIV.

The good news is that we have a choice over these risky behaviours. More and more men and women are protecting themselves and their partners. They practice safer sex and do not share unclean needles or syringes.

Make informed choices. Reduce the risk of becoming HIV infected or spreading AIDS. You can make a difference.

Watch for more news columns in this paper and television features during the FACING AIDS campaign. February 1st to May 2nd.

Elk Point Elks win a pair

Faye Smith

The Elk Point Elks played Paradise Valley on Friday, January 31 and this time came away with a win. Final score was 7-2. The end of the first period saw the score at 2-0 for the Elks. Scoring for the Elks in that period were Rick Marcoux from Shawn Mevel and Greg Rheume, and Shawn Mevel from Rob Harms. In the second period Paradise Valley got on the scoreboard first with one goal, but the Elks came right back with three more. Scorers were Shawn Mevel from Greg Desaulniers and Keith Campbell, Murray Cochrane from Terry Wozniak, and Rick Marcoux, unassisted.

Again, Paradise Valley scored first in the third period, but the Elks got two more from Kerry Loughran, with the first assist from Greg Desaulniers and the second goal assists from Murray Cochrane and Greg Rheume.

The Elks at least avenged the loss they had earlier in the week against the same team.

The Elks travelled to Kitscoty on Sunday evening to take on the Monarchs and soundly beat them 6-0. John Charlton had a very strong game in net and earned his first shutout.

First period goal scorers were Jason Jenner from Greg Rheume, Shawn Mevel. In the second period, Kitscoty was given a 5 minute major for hitting from the rear and Elk Point scored three goals. Goal scorers were: Terry Wozniak from Willie Lesyk, Delwin Slep; Greg Rheume from Willie Lesyk, Keith Campbell; Shawn Mevel from Murray Cochrane, Kerry Loughran.

Final goals were added in the third period by Greg Rheume from Kerry Loughran and Rick Marcoux from Marvin Ference and Terry Wozniak.

Although Allan Loughran's name does not appear on the score sheet, he had a very strong game, backchecking well and killing penalties.

Correction

Our apologies to the Spruceview Simmental Bullies, who were referred to last week as the Pan Canadian Bullies, and to their sponsors, coaches and parents. (It may have been the sweaters that misled us regarding the sponsorship.) Sorry, folks!
